

LIFE COACH | SPEAKER | YOUTH ADVOCATE

Achie McEachern is on a mission to ignite a global movement that reverses the oppression of young girls and women through coaching, speaking, and mentoring.

Having overcome depression after losing her mother at age 14, Achie understands how unresolved pain can lead to poor decision-making, identity struggles, and loss of hope. Now, as a Certified Life Breakthrough Coach, she empowers women to live boldly by recognizing their value, defining their purpose, and discovering their potential for leadership.

For more than 15 years, Achie has demonstrated her commitment to, and strong advocacy for, the leadership development of young people and women. In 2011, she co-founded Young Masterminds of Atlanta (YMA), a youth empowerment organization focused on personal development, leadership principles, financial literacy, and entrepreneurial concepts. Its unique summer enrichment program has been recognized by Rolling Out Magazine, Atlanta Journal Constitution, 11Alive, Fox 5, Atlanta & Company, and WSB Radio. Under her leadership, as President, YMA has grown to serve hundreds of youth in the Atlanta area.

With a contagious joy and undeniable passion for life, Achie admonishes women everywhere to “Unleash their inner lioness and let her roar!” Her blog, Unusually Remarkable, helps multitudes move beyond the societal, familial, and religious barriers that keep them trapped in fear and self-doubt.

Audiences of all sizes have been wowed by Achie’s highly energetic and interactive speaking style. Her inspiring narratives teach women how to create a life of freedom, fulfillment, and success. Some of her most popular sessions include “Woman in the Mirror”, “To a Distant Land”, and “Status Quo is Boring!”

Achie is a member of Toastmasters International, Women Speakers Association, and International Third World Leaders Association (ITWLA), a global network of leaders who help change the destiny of nations through leadership principles and development. She also volunteers with several community organizations including Big Brother Big Sister, Junior Women of Initiative, and Shelter for Abused Women and Children.

Exploring new places and immersing herself into different cultures is another one of Achie’s passions. Her most recent travels included canoeing down the Sea of Galilee in Israel and empowering the brilliant and bountiful youth of Haiti. In Spain, she enjoyed some of the world’s finest architecture, from cathedrals and museums to monuments and castles.

Achie and her husband, Shaun, live in Naples, Florida with their pampered pit bulls, Karisma and Serenity.
